The image shows a web browser window displaying a game interface. The game text reads: "You abruptly find yourself lucid in the middle of a bizarre, alien forest. How the hell did you end up here? Eerie, indistinguishable sounds ripple through the gnarled trees, setting the hairs on your neck on edge. Glancing around, you spot a gangly, grinning figure lurking in the shadows, muttering 'Xclow3n' like some sort of deranged mantra, clearly waiting for you to pass out or something. Creepy much? Heads up! This forest isn't your grandmother's backyard. It's packed with enough freaks and frights to make a horror movie blush. Time to find your way out. The stakes? Oh, nothing big. Just your friends, plunged into an abyss of darkness and despair. Punch in 'start' to kick things off in this twisted adventure!"

The game prompts the user to "start" and lists four options: "GO DEEPER INTO THE FOREST", "FOLLOW A MYSTERIOUS PATH", "CLIMB A TREE", and "TURN BACK". The user selects "GO DEEPER INTO THE FOREST". The game continues: "You venture deeper into the forest, discovering a hidden waterfall. Unfortunately, it's guarded by mischievous fairies who don't take kindly to intruders. They cast a spell, and you find yourself surrounded by floating bubbles. Game over! You died and couldn't escape the forest. Press restart to try again."

The browser's developer tools are open, showing the Network tab. The selected request is "GET http://94.237.49.128:32215/api/options". The response status is "200 OK". The response headers are: "Content-Length: 637", "Content-Type: application/json", "Date: Thu, 20 Nov 2025 01:59:54 GMT", and "Server: Werkzeug/3.0.1 Python/3.11.8". The request headers are: "Accept: */*", "Accept-Encoding: gzip, deflate", "Accept-Language: en-US,en;q=0.5", "Connection: keep-alive", "Host: 94.237.49.128:32215", "Priority: u=4", "Referer: http://94.237.49.128:32215/", "Sec-GPC: 1", and "User-Agent: Mozilla/5.0 (X11; Linux x86_64; rv:140.0) Gecko/20100101 Firefox/140.0".
